EDITORIAL STATEMENT

INFORMS Journal on Optimization seeks to publish papers in optimization with particular emphasis on data-driven optimization, optimization methods in machine learning, and exciting real-world applications of optimization. Appropriate topics include convex optimization (including linear optimization); general purpose nonlinear optimization; discrete optimization (combinatorial, integer, mixed integer optimization); optimization under uncertainty (dynamic programming, stochastic programming, robust optimization, simulation-based optimization); infinite dimensional optimization; and online optimization.

INFORMS Journal on Optimization welcomes three types of submissions: regular articles, which are original papers that build on an area and expand it in different ways; perspective articles, which are unusually original papers that initiate an area, typically the first of their kind; and review articles, which are papers that present a unifying and comprehensive review of an area of optimization. Detailed instructions for authors can be found at <https://pubsonline.informs.org/page/ijoo/submission-guidelines>.
