College on Management Philosophy

Members of the College on Management Philosophy (COLPHIL) of TIMS have elected a new COLPHIL Executive Committee for 1967 consisting of M. L. Hurni, Vice-Pres. of A. B. Dick Co., Peter Fowler of the Polytechnic School of Management Studies in London, Professor William Gomberg of the University of Pennsylvania, Richard Wakefield of the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education, and Welfare, and Professor Walter G. O'Donnell of the University of Massachusetts. The Committee will hold a business meeting, with all COLPHIL-TIMS members invited to participate, during late afternoon or early evening of Saturday, Aug. 26, in Mexico City.

As a hold-over Chairman of the COLPHIL Program Planning Committee of the preceding COLPHIL Executive Committee, Professor O'Donnell has planned COLPHIL sessions for Aug. 26, 1967 during the XIV International Meeting of The Institute of Management Sciences in which the following eight contributed papers will be presented:

- “Teleology”—The Paradox of the Management Sciences,” Jacques Lobstein, Research Manager, Institut d' Etudes Superieures des Techniques d'Organisation, University of Paris.
- “Sur la Méthodologie de la Science de l'Administration,” Claude Bruter, Department of Mathematics, University of Waterloo, Canada.
- “Cross-Cultural Similarities and Contrasts in Management Philosophies,” Lic. Edgardo Reyes Salcido, Decano, Instituto Tecnológico y de Estudios Superiores de Monterrey (Mexico).
- “Some Guidelines for Unifying the Management Sciences,” Walter G. O'Donnell, Dept. of Management, University of Massachusetts.
- “Dualities in Organization Theory: An Approach to Unifying the Management Sciences,” W. H. McWhinney, Graduate School of Bus. Admin., UCLA.
- “A Transactional Approach to a Theory of Management*,” Wm. Wilmot, Chairman, Department of Management, University of Florida.
- “Normative Preliminaries of the Decision-Making Process,” E. H. Weinswurm, DePaul University.
- “Finance Theory in an Expanded Context,” James L. Bicksler, Financial Economist, Stanford Research Institute.

Members of COLPHIL-TIMS are urged to plan to attend the Business Meeting to help formulate plans for the further development of the College. With an attendance of 75 or more at this meeting, out of a COLPHIL certified membership of about 150, the members may directly nominate and elect their COLPHIL Executive Committee for 1968, thus eliminating the costs and delays of voting by mail.

College on Research and Development (COLRAD)

COLRAD is planning for the Mexico City meetings in August a session on "Research Management: Studies and Methods". In conjunction with the Chairman of COLRAD, Burton V. Dean of Case Institute has arranged a session of seven brief presentations based on papers. The intent is to have a discussion of these by all COLRAD members and guests present. COLRAD in particular wishes to invite all members of TIMS attending the Mexico City sessions who are interested in research and development and its management to participate. A detailed program will be available along with the full Mexico City agenda.

COLRAD elections will be held in the near future for the three positions of chairman, secretary-treasurer and member at large. Walter A. Hahn
