

Organization Science

Publication details, including instructions for authors and subscription information:
<http://pubsonline.informs.org>

About Authors

To cite this article:

(2007) About Authors. Organization Science 18(1):162-164. <https://doi.org/10.1287/orsc.1060.0247>

Full terms and conditions of use: <https://pubsonline.informs.org/Publications/Librarians-Portal/PubsOnLine-Terms-and-Conditions>

This article may be used only for the purposes of research, teaching, and/or private study. Commercial use or systematic downloading (by robots or other automatic processes) is prohibited without explicit Publisher approval, unless otherwise noted. For more information, contact permissions@informs.org.

The Publisher does not warrant or guarantee the article's accuracy, completeness, merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose, or non-infringement. Descriptions of, or references to, products or publications, or inclusion of an advertisement in this article, neither constitutes nor implies a guarantee, endorsement, or support of claims made of that product, publication, or service.

Copyright © 2007, INFORMS

Please scroll down for article—it is on subsequent pages

With 12,500 members from nearly 90 countries, INFORMS is the largest international association of operations research (O.R.) and analytics professionals and students. INFORMS provides unique networking and learning opportunities for individual professionals, and organizations of all types and sizes, to better understand and use O.R. and analytics tools and methods to transform strategic visions and achieve better outcomes.

For more information on INFORMS, its publications, membership, or meetings visit <http://www.informs.org>

About Authors

Nicholas S. Argyres (“Complementarity and Evolution of Contractual Provisions: An Empirical Study of IT Services Contracts”) is Associate Professor of Strategy and Policy at the Boston University School of Management. He received his Ph.D. from the University of California, Berkeley. His research interests include the internal structure of corporations, contracting and the interorganizational relationships, the determinants of organizational boundaries, and the relationship between firm strategy and the institutional environment. Address: Boston University School of Management, 595 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, MA 02215; e-mail: nargyres@bu.edu.

Kathryn M. Bartol (“A Multilevel Investigation of the Motivational Mechanisms Underlying Knowledge Sharing and Performance”) is the Robert H. Smith Professor of Management and Organization at the Robert H. Smith School of Business, University of Maryland, College Park. She received her Ph.D. in organizational behavior and human resource management from Michigan State University. Her research interests center on reward systems, networking, employee retention, gender and work, and information technology implications for management and organizations. She is a fellow of the Academy of Management, the Society for Industrial/Organizational Psychology, and the American Psychological Society, and is Past President of the Academy of Management and Past Dean of the Academy of Management Fellows Group. Address: Robert H. Smith School of Business, University of Maryland, 4512 Van Munching Hall, College Park, MD, 20742; e-mail: kbartol@rhsmith.umd.edu.

Janet Bercovitz (“Complementarity and Evolution of Contractual Provisions: An Empirical Study of IT Services Contracts”) is an assistant professor of business administration at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. She received her Ph.D. from the University of California, Berkeley. Her research interests include technology-transfer and the structure and evolution of contractual relationships. Address: College of Business, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, 1206 South Sixth Street, Champaign, IL 61820; e-mail: jbercov@uiuc.edu.

Steven L. Blader (“What Leads Organizational Members to Collectivize? Injustice and Identification as Precursors of Union Certification”) is Assistant Professor of Management & Organizations at the Stern School of Business, New York University. He received his Ph.D. in social psychology from New York University. His main research interests focus on understanding employees’ social and relational concerns in the work place, prompting him to investigate a variety of issues in the areas of justice, identity, empathy, and status. Address: Management & Organizations Department, Stern School of Business, New York University, 40 West 4th St., Room 7-18, New York, NY 10012; e-mail: sblader@stern.nyu.edu.

Olivier Boiral (“Corporate Greening Through ISO 14001: A Rational Myth?”) is Professor of Management at the Faculty of Business Administration of Université Laval. He received his Ph.D. from HEC Montreal. His main research interest focuses on environmental management and standardization. He is Director of the Canada Research Chair in International Management Standards and Environmental Affairs. Address: Faculté des sciences de l’administration, Université Laval, Québec, Canada G1K 7P4; e-mail: olivier.boiral@mng.ulaval.ca.

Harry R. Commandeur (“The Multifaceted Nature of Exploration and Exploitation: Value of Supply, Demand, and Spatial Search for Innovation”) is Professor of Industrial and Business Economics and Dean at the Erasmus School of Economics of the Erasmus University Rotterdam, where he also received his Ph.D. His research interests include the relationship of market structures, corporate strategy, and firm performance. He has published in numerous journals including the Journal of Management Studies, Long Range Planning, Journal of Product Innovation, Industrial Marketing Management, and Journal of Business Logistics. Address: Dept. of Applied Economics, Erasmus School of Economics, Erasmus University Rotterdam, P.O. Box 1738, 3000 DR Rotterdam, The Netherlands; e-mail: hcommandeur@few.eur.nl.

Pamela Haunschild (“Organizations Non Gratae? The Impact of Unethical Corporate Acts on Interorganizational Networks”) is the Herbert Kelleher/MCorp Professor of Management at the McCombs School of Business, University of Texas at Austin. She received her Ph.D. from Carnegie Mellon University. Her research interests are in the area of organizational learning, especially in how firms learn from their “errors” or “mistakes.” She also studies interfirm networks and their effects on major firm strategic actions. Address: McCombs School of Business, University of Texas at Austin, CBA 4.202/B6300, Austin, TX 78712-0210; e-mail: pamela.haunschild@mcombs.utexas.edu.

Andrea B. Hollingshead (“Perspective—Coordinating Expertise Among Emergent Groups Responding to Disasters”) is Associate Professor at the Annenberg School for Communication at the University of Southern California. She received her Ph.D. in psychology from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Her research investigates transactive memory and strategic information sharing in groups and organizations. She also studies how groups collaborate, and create community using communication technologies. Address: Annenberg School for Communication, University of Southern California, 3502 Watt Way, ASC 101A, Los Angeles, CA 90089-0281; e-mail: aholling@usc.edu.

Sirkka L. Jarvenpaa (“Perspective—Coordinating Expertise Among Emergent Groups Responding to Disasters”) is Professor and the James Bayless/Rauscher Pierce Refsnes Chair in Business Administration at the McCombs School of Business, University of Texas at Austin. She is also the Director of the Center for Business, Technology and Law at the McCombs School. Dr. Jarvenpaa has served as Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Association for Information Systems, Coeditor-in-chief of the Journal of Strategic Information Systems, the senior editor for MIS Quarterly and Information Systems Research. Address: Department of Information, Risk, and Operations Management, McCombs School of Business, B6500, University of Texas at Austin, Austin, TX 78712; e-mail: sirkka.jarvenpaa@mcombs.utexas.edu.

Thorbjørn Knudsen (“Two Faces of Search: Alternative Generation and Alternative Evaluation”) is Professor of Management at the Department of Marketing & Management at the University of Southern Denmark. He studies economic evolution and decision making in organizations. Address: Department of Marketing & Management, University of Southern Denmark, Campusvej 55, DK-5230 Odense M, Denmark; e-mail: tok@sam.sdu.dk.

Liette Lapointe (“A Triple Take on Information System Implementation”) is Associate Professor at the Desautels Faculty of Management of McGill University. She holds a M.Sc. in healthcare administration from the Faculty of Medicine, Université de Montréal, and a Ph.D. in administration (information systems) from HEC Montréal. Her research interests are in the areas of IT implementation, resistance to IT, and adoption of information systems in healthcare. Her work has been published in such journals as MIS Quarterly, CMAJ, and others. Address: Desautels Faculty of Management, McGill University, 1001 Sherbrooke Street West, Montreal, Quebec, Canada H3A 1G5; e-mail: liette.lapointe@mcgill.ca.

Daniel A. Levinthal (“Two Faces of Search: Alternative Generation and Alternative Evaluation”) is the Reginald H. Jones Professor of Corporate Strategy at The Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania. He received his Ph.D. from the Graduate School of Business at Stanford University in 1985. Levinthal taught at the Graduate School of Industrial Administration, Carnegie Mellon University, from 1983 to 1989. Since 1989, Levinthal has been a faculty member at Wharton. His research interests focus on issues of organizational adaptation and industry evolution, particularly in the context of technological change. Address: 2000 Steinberg-Dietrich Hall, The Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6370; e-mail: levinthal@wharton.upenn.edu.

Edwin A. Locke (“A Multilevel Investigation of the Motivational Mechanisms Underlying Knowledge Sharing and Performance”) is Dean’s Professor (Emeritus) of Leadership and Motivation at the Robert H. Smith School of Business, University of Maryland, College Park. He received his Ph.D. in industrial psychology from Cornell University in 1964. He has published over 240 chapters, notes, and articles in professional journals. He is also the author or editor of 10 books, including A Theory of Goal Setting and Task Performance (Prentice Hall, 1990, with G. Latham), Handbook of Principles of Organizational Behavior (Blackwell, 2000), and The Prime Movers: Traits of the Great Wealth Creators (AMACOM, 2000). Dr. Locke has been elected a Fellow of the American Psychological Association, of the American Psychological Society, and of the Academy of Management, has been a consulting editor for leading journals, and received numerous scholarly awards. He is a senior writer for the Ayn Rand Institute and is interested in the application of the philosophy of objectivism to the behavioral sciences. Address: 32122 Canyon Ridge Drive, Westlake Village, CA, 91361; e-mail: elocke@rhsmith.umd.edu.

Ann Majchrzak (“Perspective—Coordinating Expertise Among Emergent Groups Responding to Disasters”) is Professor of Information Systems at the Marshall School of Business, University of Southern California. She received her Ph.D. in social psychology from UCLA. Her current research interests include virtual collaboration, collaboration in high-risk, high-security contexts, knowledge management, and enterprisewide collaboration with Web 2.0 technologies. Address: Department of Information and Operations Management, Marshall School of Business, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, CA 90089; e-mail: majchrza@usc.edu.

Kyle J. Mayer (“Complementarity and Evolution of Contractual Provisions: An Empirical Study of IT Services Contracts”) is Associate Professor of Strategy and Policy at the Marshall School of Business, University of Southern California. He received his Ph.D. from the University of California, Berkeley. His research examines the governance of interorganizational relationships and the strategic use of contracts—how they can be used to protect and generate value. Recent papers look inside contracts (contingency planning provisions, contract detail) to understand the roles of various elements of a contract in supporting interorganizational exchange. His work appears in Organization Science, Management Science, the Academy of Management Journal, and the Journal of Law, Economics and Organization. Address: Marshall School of Business (BRI 306), University of Southern California, Los Angeles, CA 90089-0808; e-mail: kmayer@marshall.usc.edu.

Karen Page (“Organizations Non Gratae? The Impact of Unethical Corporate Acts on Interorganizational Networks”) received her Ph.D. in organizational behavior from Stanford University and JD from the University of Denver. She is currently an assistant professor of strategic management at the University of Wyoming. Her research interests include interorganizational networks and learning and the intersection of law and entrepreneurship. Address: College of Business, University of Wyoming, 1000 University Ave., Dept. 3275, Laramie, WY 82071; e-mail: kpage@uwyo.edu.

Narda R. Quigley (“A Multilevel Investigation of the Motivational Mechanisms Underlying Knowledge Sharing and Performance”) is an assistant professor of management at Villanova University’s School of Business. She received her Ph.D. in organizational behavior from the Robert H. Smith School of Business at the University of Maryland. Her research focuses on team processes, emergent and cross-cultural leadership, and motivation. Address: Villanova School of Business, Villanova University, 800 Lancaster Ave., Villanova, PA 19085; e-mail: narda.quigley@villanova.edu.

Suzanne Rivard (“A Triple Take on Information System Implementation”) is the HEC Montreal Endowed Chair in Strategic Management of Information Technology. She received a Ph.D. from the Ivey School of Business, University of Western Ontario. Her research interests are in the areas of IT implementation, outsourcing of information systems services, software project risk management, and strategic alignment of IT. Professor Rivard is a member of the Royal Society of Canada. Her work has been published in such journals as the Communications of the ACM, DataBase, Journal of Information Technology, Journal of Management Information Systems, MIS Quarterly, and others. Address: HEC Montréal, 3000 Chemin de la Côte-Ste-Catherine, Montréal, Canada H3T 2A7; e-mail: suzanne.rivard@hec.ca.

Jatinder S. Sidhu (“The Multifaceted Nature of Exploration and Exploitation: Value of Supply, Demand, and Spatial Search for Innovation”) earned his Ph.D. at the Tinbergen Institute, Erasmus School of Economics of the Erasmus University Rotterdam. He is currently Associate Professor of Strategic Management at the Rotterdam School of Management, Erasmus University. His present research efforts focus on issues related to organizational learning, knowledge, and innovation. Address: Dept. of Strategic Management & Business Environment, RSM, Erasmus University Rotterdam, P.O. Box

1738, 3000 DR Rotterdam, The Netherlands; e-mail: jsidhu@rsm.nl.

Bilian Ni Sullivan (“Organizations Non Gratae? The Impact of Unethical Corporate Acts on Interorganizational Networks”) received her Ph.D. from Stanford University and currently is an assistant professor at the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology. Her research interests are in the areas of learning, social networks, and stratification. Address: Department of Management of Organizations, Hong Kong University of Science and Technology, Clear Water Bay, Kowloon, Hong Kong; e-mail: mnbilian@ust.hk.

Paul E. Tesluk (“A Multilevel Investigation of the Motivational Mechanisms Underlying Knowledge Sharing and Performance”) is an associate professor at the Robert H. Smith School of Business, University of Maryland, College Park. He received his Ph.D. in industrial/organizational psychology from Penn State University. His research focuses on team effectiveness, management and leadership development, and innovation processes in organizations. Address: Robert H. Smith School of Business, University of Maryland, 4542 Van Munching Hall, College Park, MD 20742; e-mail: ptesluk@rshsmith.umd.edu.

Henk W. Volberda (“The Multifaceted Nature of Exploration and Exploitation: Value of Supply, Demand, and Spatial Search for Innovation”) is Professor of Strategic Management and Business Policy, Chairman of the Department of Strategic Management & Business Environment, and Vice Dean of the RSM Erasmus University. Professor Volberda obtained his doctorate cum laude in business administration from the University of Groningen. He received the NCD Award (1987), Erasmus University Research Award (1997), Igor Ansoff Strategic Management Award (1993), and SAP Strategy Award (2005) for his research on organizational flexibility and strategic renewal. His research focuses on strategic renewal, strategic flexibility, hypercompetition and new organizational forms, and coevolution of firms and industries. He has published his work in many international journals, such as the Academy of Management Journal, Management Science, Journal of Management Studies, Long Range Planning, Organization Studies, and Organization Science. He is also Senior Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of International Business Studies and Long Range Planning, and a member of the editorial board of the Journal of Management Studies, Management Executive, and Organization Science. Address: Dept. of Strategic Management & Business Environment, RSM, Erasmus University Rotterdam, P.O. Box 1738, 3000 DR Rotterdam, The Netherlands; e-mail: hvolberda@rsm.nl.