

Organization Science

Publication details, including instructions for authors and subscription information:
<http://pubsonline.informs.org>

About Authors

To cite this article:

(2003) About Authors. Organization Science 14(1):104-106. <https://doi.org/10.1287/orse.14.1.104.12808>

Full terms and conditions of use: <https://pubsonline.informs.org/Publications/Librarians-Portal/PubsOnLine-Terms-and-Conditions>

This article may be used only for the purposes of research, teaching, and/or private study. Commercial use or systematic downloading (by robots or other automatic processes) is prohibited without explicit Publisher approval, unless otherwise noted. For more information, contact permissions@informs.org.

The Publisher does not warrant or guarantee the article's accuracy, completeness, merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose, or non-infringement. Descriptions of, or references to, products or publications, or inclusion of an advertisement in this article, neither constitutes nor implies a guarantee, endorsement, or support of claims made of that product, publication, or service.

© 2003 INFORMS

Please scroll down for article—it is on subsequent pages

With 12,500 members from nearly 90 countries, INFORMS is the largest international association of operations research (O.R.) and analytics professionals and students. INFORMS provides unique networking and learning opportunities for individual professionals, and organizations of all types and sizes, to better understand and use O.R. and analytics tools and methods to transform strategic visions and achieve better outcomes.

For more information on INFORMS, its publications, membership, or meetings visit <http://www.informs.org>

About Authors

Manuel Becerra (“Perceived Trustworthiness Within the Organization: The Moderating Impact of Communication Frequency on Trustor and Trustee Effects”) is Professor of Strategy and International Management at Instituto de Empresa (Madrid). He holds a Ph.D. from the R.H. Smith School of Business, University of Maryland at College Park. His research focuses mainly on strategic management of multinational corporations, including the management of trust and social capital, and the creation of value in network-based industries. Address: Instituto de Empresa, María de Molina 12, 5P, 28006 Madrid, Spain; telephone: (+ 34) 91-568-9600; fax: (+ 34) 91-563-5558; e-mail: <manuel.becerra@ie.edu>.

Stephen J. Carson (“Information Processing Moderators of the Effectiveness of Trust-Based Governance in Interfirm R&D Collaboration”) is Assistant Professor of Marketing at the David Eccles School of Business, University of Utah. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota and has previously been on the faculty of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. His current research focuses on the management of marketing channel and interorganizational relationships in high-technology industries, including the relationship between social and economic institutions of governance. He has published articles in several leading journals, including the Journal of Marketing and the Journal of Retailing. Address: University of Utah, David Eccles School of Business, 1645 E. Campus Center Dr., Salt Lake City, UT 84112; telephone: (801) 587-7967; fax: (801) 581-7214; e-mail: <mktstjc@business.utah.edu>.

John Child (“Contextual Confidence and Active Trust Development in the Chinese Business Environment”) is Professor of Commerce at the Birmingham Business School. His research focuses on the evolution of firms, including their internationalization and new organizational forms. Much of his work has concerned managerial and organizational developments connected with China’s economic reforms, and he is currently extending his interest to Brazil. He is co-author of The Management of International Acquisitions, Oxford University Press 2001, and coeditor of The Handbook of Organizational Learning and Knowledge, Oxford University Press 2001. Address: Birmingham Business School, University of Birmingham, Birmingham B15 2TT, U.K.; e-mail: <jchild@bham.ac.uk>.

Wujin Chu (“The Role of Trustworthiness in Reducing Transaction Costs and Improving Performance: Empirical Evidence from the United States, Japan, and Korea”) is Associate Professor of Marketing at the College of Business Administration, Seoul National University (SNU). He received his BA from SNU and MA and Ph.D. from The Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania. Prior to joining SNU, he taught at MIT and UC Berkeley as Assistant Professor and Visiting Associate Professor, respectively. He has published numerous articles in the Journal of International Business Studies, Marketing Science, and the Journal of Marketing Research. His field of interest is the global automobile industry, with a special focus on how trust is developed between automakers and their suppliers. Address: School of Management, Seoul National University, Shinlim-Dong, Kwanak-Ku, Seoul 151, Korea; telephone: 82-2-880-6947; e-mail: <wchu@car123.co.kr>.

Kurt T. Dirks (“The Use of Rewards to Increase and Decrease Trust: Mediating Processes and Differential Effects”) is currently an associate professor at the John M. Olin School of Business at Washington University in St. Louis. He received his Ph.D. in organizational behavior from the University of Minnesota. His research is focused on trust in the workplace, including its antecedents, consequences, and processes. He also conducts research on feelings of ownership. The research has been published in outlets that include the Academy of Management Review, the Journal of Applied Psychology, and Organization Science. Address: John M. Olin School of Business, Washington University in St. Louis, 1 Brookings Dr., St. Louis, MO 63130; telephone: (314) 935-5206; e-mail: <dirks@olin.wustl.edu>; website: <www.olin.wustl.edu/faculty/dirks/>.

Jeffrey H. Dyer (“The Role of Trustworthiness in Reducing Transaction Costs and Improving Performance: Empirical Evidence from the United States, Japan, and Korea”) holds the Donald Staheli Chair in International Strategy at the Marriott School, Brigham Young University. Before joining the Marriott School, Dr. Dyer was a professor at the University of Pennsylvania’s Wharton School. Dr. Dyer received his Ph.D. in strategy and organization from UCLA and his experience includes five years as a consultant and manager at Bain & Company. His recently published book, Collaborative Advantage, won the Shingo Prize Research Award, and he has published widely in a variety of journals including the Harvard Business Review, Sloan Management Review, Strategic Management Journal, Academy of Management Review, Organization Science, California Management Review, and Journal of International Business Studies. Address: Marriott School, Brigham Young University, 740 Tanner Building, Provo, UT 84602; e-mail: <jdyer@byu.edu>.

Donald L. Ferrin (“The Use of Rewards to Increase and Decrease Trust: Mediating Processes and Differential Effects”) is an assistant professor in the Department of Organization and Human Resources at the State University of New York at Buffalo. He received his Ph.D. in organizational behavior from the University of Minnesota. His research focuses on interpersonal work relationships, with specific interests in interpersonal trust and intercultural adjustment. His research has been published in the Journal of Applied Psychology and Organization Science. Prior to his Ph.D., he worked for seven years as a senior consultant and audit manager for Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu International in Los Angeles and Hong Kong. Address: Department of Organization and Human Resources, State University of New York, 274 Jacobs Management Center, Buffalo, NY 14260-4000; telephone: (716) 645-7900; e-mail: <dlferrin@buffalo.edu>; website: <www.mgt.buffalo.edu/faculty/Donald_Ferrin.shtml>.

Anil K. Gupta (“Perceived Trustworthiness Within the Organization: The Moderating Impact of Communication Frequency on Trustor and Trustee Effects”) is the Ralph J. Tyser Professor of Strategy and Organization at the Robert H. Smith School of Business, University of Maryland at College Park. He received his Ph.D. in Business Administration from Harvard University. His current research projects focus on coordination and control within multinational firms, knowledge creation and diffusion, and entrepreneurial learning. Address: Robert H. Smith School of Business, University of Maryland, College Park, MD 20742; telephone: (301) 405-2221; fax: (301) 314-8787; e-mail: <agupta@rhsmith.umd.edu>.

Lenard Huff (“Levels of Organizational Trust in Individualist Versus Collective Societies: A Seven-Nation Study”) is Associate Professor of International Marketing at Brigham Young University–Hawaii. His current research focuses on relationship marketing, with a particular interest in consumer and organizational trust in an international setting. He has published in such journals as Management Science, Quality Management Journal, the Journal of Advertising Research, and the Journal of Global Marketing. Address: School of Business, Brigham Young University–Hawaii, 55-220 Kulanui St., Box 1956, Laie, HI 96762; (huff@byuh.edu).

George John (“Information Processing Moderators of the Effectiveness of Trust-Based Governance in Interfirm R&D Collaboration”) is Research Professor at the Carlson School of Management, University of Minnesota. He received his BA in aeronautical engineering from the Indian Institute of Technology, Madras, India in 1974 and his MBA from the University of Illinois in 1974. After completing his Ph.D. in marketing from Northwestern in 1981, he served on the faculty of the Business School, University of Wisconsin–Madison until 1987, when he moved to the Carlson School of Management. His research interests center around inter-organizational relations and marketing in high-technology environments. He has published on these topics in several journals, including the Journal of Marketing Research, the Journal of Marketing, Marketing Science, and the Journal of Law, Economics and Organization. Address: Marketing Department, Carlson School of Management, University of Minnesota, 321 19th Ave. South, Minneapolis, MN 55455; telephone: (612) 624-5055; e-mail: (gjohn@csom.umn.edu).

Lane Kelley (“Levels of Organizational Trust in Individualist Versus Collectivist Societies: A Seven-Nation Study”) is Professor and Chair of Management at the University of Hawaii–Manoa. His research focuses on Asian management and leadership. He has published in such journals as the Journal of International Business Studies and the Academy of Management Journal. His text, Human Resource Management in Action, has been adopted at more than 500 U.S. colleges and universities. Address: Department of Management and Industrial Relations, College of Business Administration, University of Hawaii–Manoa, Honolulu, HI 96823; e-mail: (kelley@cba.hawaii.edu).

Anoop Madhok (“Information Processing Moderators of the Effectiveness of Trust-Based Governance in Interfirm R&D Collaboration”) is an associate professor of management at the David Eccles School of Business, University of Utah. Most recently, he has been a visiting professor at the Rotterdam School of Management, Erasmus University, Rotterdam. He obtained his Ph.D. in 1993 from McGill University, Montreal (with a major in strategy and minor in international political economy). He received his MA in international studies from Johns Hopkins University. His research interests include multinational strategy, interfirm collaboration, and the theory of the firm. His work has been published in the Strategic Management Journal, Organization Science, the Journal of International Business Studies, and International Business Review among others, as well as in a variety of books. Address: Department of Management, University of Utah, 1645 E. Campus Center Dr., Rm. 104, Salt Lake City, UT 84112; telephone: (801) 585-5719; e-mail: (mgtam@business.utah.edu).

Bill McEvily (“Introduction to the Special Issue on Trust in an Organizational Context” and “Trust as an Organizing Principle”) is an assistant professor of organizational behavior and theory at Carnegie Mellon University, where he teaches courses on international management, organizational behavior, and organizational relations and the influence of networks on knowledge sharing. Professor McEvily’s research has been published in Organizational Science and the Strategic Management Journal. He has also served as Guest Editor for a special issue of Management Science on “Knowledge Management: Creating, Retaining, and Transferring Knowledge.” Professor McEvily holds a B.S. in management information systems from Clarkson University and a Ph.D. in strategic management from the University of Minnesota. Address: 323 GSIA, Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, PA 15213-3890; telephone: (412) 268-4198; fax: (412) 268-7064; e-mail: (bmcevely@andrew.cmu.edu).

Guido Möllering (“Contextual Confidence and Active Trust Development in the Chinese Business Environment”) holds a junior faculty position of Wissenschaftlicher Mitarbeiter at the Free University of Berlin, Institute of Business Administration. He is also a Ph.D. candidate at the University of Cambridge, Judge Institute of Management, where he previously received an MA in management. His research is in the area of organizational behavior and organization theory, currently focusing on trust and interorganizational relations. He has published articles and reviews on the subject in Sociology, Cambridge Journal of Economics, Organization Studies, and the Journal of Management Studies. Address: Free University of Berlin, Institute of Business Administration, Boltzmannstr. 20, 14195 Berlin, Germany; telephone: (+49) 30-83856807; fax: (+49) 30-83856808; e-mail: (moelleri.wiwiss.fu-berlin@de).

Vincenzo Perrone (“Introduction to the Special Issue on Trust in an Organizational Context” and “Trust as an Organizing Principle”) is Professor of Organization and Chairman of the Institute of Organization and Management Information Systems at Bocconi University, Milano (Italy). He earned his Ph.D. from Bocconi University in 1988. He has been Visiting Professor at the Carlson School of Management, University of Minnesota, 1992–1994. His research interests focus on new organizational forms (n-form), trust in intra- and interorganizational relations, interfirm coordination mechanisms, and organizational resources for competitive advantage and forms of capital. His publications include articles in Organization Science and the California Management Review. He is a consultant for several important companies operating in Europe. Address: Institute of Organization and MIS, Bocconi University, viale Isonzo 23, 20136 Milano, Italy; telephone: (+39).02.5836.2632; fax: (+39).02.5836.2634; e-mail: (vincenzo.perrone@uni-bocconi.it).

Katherine J. Stewart (“Trust Transfer on the World Wide Web”) is an assistant professor of information systems and Smith Fellow at the Robert H. Smith School of Business, University of Maryland at College Park. She received her Ph.D. from the University of Texas at Austin in 2000. Her current research focuses primarily on trust in virtual settings and organizational issues related to the development of open-source software. Address: 4355 Van Munching Hall, University of Maryland, College Park, MD 20742; telephone: (301) 405-0576; fax: (301) 405-8655; e-mail: (kstewart@rhsmith.umd.edu).

Rohit Varman (“Information Processing Moderators of the Effectiveness of Trust-Based Governance in Interfirm R&D Collaboration”) is a visiting professor at the Indian Institute of Technology. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Utah. His current research focuses on the role of social norms and embeddedness in relational exchanges and consumer culture, including the meanings of consumption and consumer choice. Address: Indian Institute of Technology, Kanpur, India 208016; telephone: (+91) 512-597430; fax: (+91) 512-597553; e-mail: (rohitv@iitk.ac.in).

Akbar Zaheer (“Introduction to the Special Issue on Trust in an Organizational Context” and “Trust as an Organizing Principle”) is Curtis L. Carlson Professor of Strategic Management and Organization at the Carlson School of Management, University of Minnesota, and Director of the Strategic Management Research Center at the school. He received his Ph.D. from the Sloan School of Management at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He holds an undergraduate degree in economics from St. Stephen's College, Delhi, and an MBA from the Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad. Since joining the faculty at the Carlson School in 1991, he has been researching a number of issues centered around trust, interfirm relationships, and networks and has published several papers in journals such as the Strategic Management Journal, Management Science, Academy of Management Review, and Organizational Science. He was Guest Editor of a recent special issue of the Strategic Management Journal on "Strategic Networks." Address: University of Minnesota, Carlson School of Management 3-365, 321 19th Ave. South, Minneapolis, MN 55455; e-mail: <azaheer@csom.umn.edu>.