

Organization Science

Publication details, including instructions for authors and subscription information:
<http://pubsonline.informs.org>

About Authors

To cite this article:

(1996) About Authors. Organization Science 7(6):682-682. <https://doi.org/10.1287/orse.7.6.682>

Full terms and conditions of use: <https://pubsonline.informs.org/Publications/Librarians-Portal/PubsOnLine-Terms-and-Conditions>

This article may be used only for the purposes of research, teaching, and/or private study. Commercial use or systematic downloading (by robots or other automatic processes) is prohibited without explicit Publisher approval, unless otherwise noted. For more information, contact permissions@informs.org.

The Publisher does not warrant or guarantee the article's accuracy, completeness, merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose, or non-infringement. Descriptions of, or references to, products or publications, or inclusion of an advertisement in this article, neither constitutes nor implies a guarantee, endorsement, or support of claims made of that product, publication, or service.

© 1996 INFORMS

Please scroll down for article—it is on subsequent pages

With 12,500 members from nearly 90 countries, INFORMS is the largest international association of operations research (O.R.) and analytics professionals and students. INFORMS provides unique networking and learning opportunities for individual professionals, and organizations of all types and sizes, to better understand and use O.R. and analytics tools and methods to transform strategic visions and achieve better outcomes. For more information on INFORMS, its publications, membership, or meetings visit <http://www.informs.org>

About Authors

Felix Alvarado, M.D., M.P.A., Ph.D. ("Concerning Post-modernity and Organizations in the Third World: Opening a Debate and Suggestions for a Research Agenda") is a consultant with GCD Consultores Asociados and a lecturer in organization theory for the National Institute of Public Administration (INAP) in Guatemala. He received his Ph.D. in Public Administration from SUNY Albany. Dr. Alvarado's research interests include ethnography in organizations, and government, non-profit and health organizations in the third world. Address: (M631), P.O. Box 025345, Miami, FL 33102; telephone/fax: (502) 591-2775; e-mail: falvarado@uvalle.edu.gt.

Giuseppe Audia ("The Effect of Lengthening Job Tenure on Managers' Organizational Commitment and Turnover") is a Ph.D. candidate in organizational behavior at the University of Maryland and is currently a visiting professor of organizational behavior at Bocconi University, Milan, Italy. His research interests include psychological contracts in organizations, strategic persistence in changing environments, CEO's psychological processes, and the nature of competition. Address: Area Organizzazione e Personale, Scuola di Direzione Aziendale-Università Bocconi, Via Bocconi 8, Milano 20136 Italy; telephone: 39.2.5836.6852; fax: 39.2.5836.6890.

Yu-Ting Cheng ("Learning the Innovation Journey: Order out of Chaos?") is a doctoral candidate in statistics and a research associate in the Strategic Management Research Center of the University of Minnesota. He is completing his thesis with the support of an NSF Ph.D. Dissertation Fellowship. The thesis develops a dynamical statistical model to examine binary event time series data. Address: School of Statistics, University of Minnesota, 270 Vincent Hall, 206 Church Street, Minneapolis, MN 55455; e-mail: TING@UMNSTAT.STAT.UMN.EDU.

Jeffrey H. Dyer ("Does Governance Matter? Keiretsu Alliances and Asset Specificity as Sources of Japanese Competitive Advantage") is the Stanley Goldstein term assistant professor of management at the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Dyer's research focuses on creating competitive advantages through interfirm linkages such as strategic alliances and networks. He has done extensive research on supplier-automaker relationships in Japan, Korea, and the United States. His research has been published in a variety of journals including Strategic Management Journal, Organization Science, Harvard Business Review, and Sloan Management Review. Address: Wharton School, Department of Management, 2000 Steinberg-Dietrich Hall, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6370; telephone: (215) 898-9371; fax: (215) 898-0401; e-mail: Dyer@wmgfacc.wharton.upenn.edu.

Anil K. Gupta ("The Effect of Lengthening Job Tenure on Managers' Organizational Commitment and Turnover") received his Ph.D. from Harvard University and is currently a professor of business policy at the University of Maryland. His research interests include multinational organizations and organizational learning. Address: College of Business and Management, University of Maryland, College Park, MD 20742; telephone: (301) 405-2221; fax: (301) 314-9157.

Lisa Hope Pelled ("Demographic Diversity, Conflict, and Work Group Outcomes: An Intervening Process Theory") is Assistant Professor of Management and Organization at the School of Business Administration, University of Southern California. She received her Ph.D. in Industrial Engineering from Stanford University. Her research interests include demographic diversity, conflict, international human resource management, and workplace emotions. Address: Management and Organization Department, School of Business Administration, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, CA 90089-1421; telephone: (213) 740-6382; fax: (213) 749-0541; e-mail: pelled@almaak.usc.edu.

M. Susan Taylor ("The Effect of Lengthening Job Tenure on Managers' Organizational Commitment and Turnover") is Professor of Management and Organizations at the University of Maryland, College Park. She received her Ph.D. from Purdue University and has also taught at the Università Bocconi, The University of Washington, Seattle, and the University of Wisconsin, Madison. Her research interests include executive career mobility, procedural justice in human resource interventions, and psychological contracts. Address: College of Business and Management, University of Maryland, College Park, MD 20742; telephone: (301) 314-9157; fax: (301) 405-2240.

Andrew H. Van de Ven ("Learning the Innovation Journey: Order out of Chaos?") is Vernon Heath Professor of Organizational Innovation and Change in the Carlson School, and Director of the Minnesota Innovation Research Program in the Strategic Management Research Center of the University of Minnesota. He received his M.B.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Wisconsin at Madison. Over the past 10 years his work has focused on theories and methods for better understanding sequences of change events in the development of organizational innovations. Address: Carlson School of Management, University of Minnesota, 271 19th Avenue South, Minneapolis, MN 55455; telephone: (612) 624-1864; fax: (612) 615-2873; e-mail: avandeven@csom.umn.edu.